If you're in the energy storage game, Chile's 2025 tender announcement is like spotting a rare bird in the Atacama Desert—exciting and packed with potential. With a $33 billion global energy storage industry already generating nearly 100 gigawatt-hours annually [1], Chile aims to carve its niche as.

It proposed a law to allow the tender of 2 GW of BESS at a $2 billion cost. Also, the 5,400 GWh long-term energy tender announced in May will provide incentives for storage. • A new ruling allows storage to receive revenue from power sufficiency and provides revenues for both BESS and the.

The Chilean authorities want to contract 5,400 GWh of power from renewable energy, while also including battery storage. The selected developers will secure 20-year power purchase agreements (PPAs). From pv magazine LatAm CNE, Chile's energy regulator, has published the bidding rules for the.

In July 2024, AES announced plans to construct a 763 MW solar plant with a 1,063 MW battery offering five-hour storage, as reported in pv magazine LatAm. Construction is expected to begin in April 2025 in the Antofagasta region in the north of the country, ahead of an expected commissioning date in.

This momentum is reflected in the data: AMI estimates that there is a 7.7 GW

How much does a battery cost in Chile?

In fact, batteries charged at nearly $0/MWh during the day in the sunny, northern desert regions of Chile, sell energy at night for over $100/MWh. Although projects such as Engie's BESS Coya are already enjoying these large spreads, this capacity payment will partially de-risk Chile's dependence on volatile, but still profitable, merchant revenues.

How much battery storage capacity does Chile have?

According to data from Acera, the Chilean Renewable Energy Association, there are only 64MW of battery storage capacity currently active, representing 0.2% of national capacity. AES Andes, a subsidiary of U.S. company AES Corp. operates all 64MW at their Angamos and Los Andes substations.
