Argentina's first energy storage tender drew 1.347 GW of bids from 15 companies proposing 27 projects, exceeding the 500 MW target and representing more than $1 billion in pledged investment. From ESS News The Argentinian government opened the bids this week for its AlmaGBA tender process. The.

In addition to awarding 30% more capacity than originally planned, Argentina's first battery energy storage tender could allocate an additional 222 MW to bidders willing to match the highest awarded price. From ESS News Argentina has successfully concluded its first battery energy storage tender.

This investment estimate of $1 billion is represented in the form of the bids, something that is a clear indication that Argentina has an energy market that is ready to be transformed. The heart of this tender, which also comes officially as AlmaGBA, is a strategic desire to stabilize the grid of.

Over 667 megawatts of energy storage capacity are headed for the Buenos Aires Metropolitan Area (AMBA), representing an investment exceeding half a billion US dollars. This isn't just about avoiding summer blackouts; it's a pivotal moment for Argentina's energy future, and a potential model for.

Argentina has awarded 667MW of battery energy storage system (BESS) in its first tender under the AlmaGBA scheme. Nearly half of the volume submitted for the tender (1.3GW) has been awarded by the wholesale market operator CAMMESA (Compañía Administradora del Mercado Mayorista Eléctrico Sociedad).

Argentina has taken a decisive step toward modernising its electricity infrastructure with the conclusion of its first large-scale battery energy storage tender, awarding 667 MW of capacity —a significant 30% above the original 500 MW target. The competitive bidding round, part of the Alma-GBA.
